- The Family Assistance Center will provide support to residents impacted by Friday's tornado. The Center's hours will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily at The City Center, 315 N. Shackelford Road. Affected residents will be able to access recovery resources such as water, food, and supplies. They may also request volunteer chainsaw crews through the center who will assist residents with tree removal and tarp placement. FEMA representatives will be onsite for residents who need federal assistance. Case workers as well as trauma-informed mental health services will be provided through the center. The Little Rock School District will also have a representative at the Center for families in transition, and the City will offer Municipal Photo ID services to residents who may need them. Free lunches and dinners will also be offered each day this week.
- United Way will connect residents to resources through its 24-hour 211 line. Individuals may call 211 to report disaster-related issues or request volunteer services. 211 call-takers will work with city volunteer efforts and other partners to provide assistance through their service.
- According to FEMA, residents or businesses who sustained damages can apply for assistance at: www.DisasterAssistance.gov or by calling (800) 621-FEMA.
- Make tax-deductible donations to the Little Rock Cares fund. Donate online at www.littlerock.gov. All donations will be directed to support those impacted by the storm.
- Volunteer to help with recovery and cleanup through www.littlerock.gov/volunteer.
- Donate water and nonperishable food items at the City's donation drop-off point, 7000 Murray Ave. Donations are accepted daily from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.
